17th and 18th October 2023

There are currently multiple courses on surgical techniques for the therapeutic approach of urological cancers. Improving expertise in surgical practice is one of our main concerns and also the end point of our learning process. In this oncology surgery immersion workshop, practical surgical aspects will be approached and updated, from the most basic to the most controversial. It is addressed to urologists and other professionals involved in uro-oncological surgery.

WORKSHOP DEVELOPMENT

This surgical immersion workshop will be carried out in the operating theatre, and in only one day the attendees will be directly involved in four surgeries performed by our staff urologists. Educational talks on the surgeries technical details will be held the day before the surgical session.

The aim is to spend two intensely active days during which we will address all basic and practical aspects in a constructive mood, with the purpose of promoting wide interaction between surgeons and attendees.
